

City of Brentwood Commission Volunteer Interest Sheet

Committed volunteers play an important part in shaping Brentwood's future. Commission members assist the Board of Aldermen and Administration in developing policies and services, which reflect the needs and values of the entire Brentwood community. As a member of a City committee, you serve as a respected community advisor to the Board of Aldermen and Administration.

While volunteer involvement requires time and effort, it also provides an opportunity for genuine public service. In addition, you gain knowledge about the role of City government and its daily operations.

If you are interested in joining other Brentwood citizens currently serving as volunteer commission and committee members, please complete this volunteer interest profile sheet and/or submit a resume or bio and return the information to the following address:
