Brentwood Police and Fire Departments Begin Friendly Competition

St. Louis, MO – Nearly 19,000 children in the Greater St. Louis Area do not have a bed, pillow, and other basic sleeping arrangements. This holiday season the Brentwood Fire and Police departments have partnered with a local nonprofit to help do something about that while enjoying a bit of friendly competition.

During the entire month of December, the police and fire departments in Brentwood will collect donations of new pillows to give to the organization Home Sweet Home. The nonprofit partners with over 30 agencies in the area to provide furniture and other household goods to families leaving homelessness.

“The Brentwood PD is so excited to be a part of the 2nd annual Pillow Fight between the police and fire departments! During a time when so much in our lives has changed, we are proud to show that humanity and giving is still the focus of this holiday season. We look forward to competing against our first responder partners, the fire department, and hope to “hose” them in this competition,” said Major Angela Hawkins of the Brentwood Police Department.

Donations can be brought 24/7 to the police department located at 272 Hanley Industrial Ct or the fire department located at 8756 Eulalie Ave in Brentwood. Choose wisely because your donation may give the winning department the numbers they need! For more information you can email ahawkins@brentwoodmo.org.
